

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I am writing this short letter in support of the application of François Goybet for a position in your firm.

François is currently a student in the Master in data science program at EPFL, with specialization in Financial Engineering. In the Fall semester 2024 he took my course “Probability and Stochastic Calculus”, which is one of the core courses in the EPFL MFE (Master in Financial Engineering) program.

François obtained the highest grade in this course, shared by only 8% of the class. His final exam was actually the third best in a class of 135 students.

In July 2024 François graduated with a Bachelor in Computer Science from EPFL. His GPA was in the top 10-15% of his EPFL cohort.

In sum, François has demonstrated excellent Mathematics and Computer Science skills.

He also appears to be a very hardworking and enthusiastic person and has already completed two internships in France and Canada.

I am sure he has a bright future in the financial industry and I therefore strongly recommend that you give François’s application a serious consideration.

I remain available for any further clarification.
